

Those odds & ends are from my shop at 1503 Webster Street, not Anno Domini 1503! Apologies to those who expected a list of early 16th C imprints. That said, I trust that the folks who do take a moment to peruse this list will not be disappointed, as you'll find Tavistock Books again offers our usual diverse selection of material, a baker's dozen comprising recent acquisitions as well as hidden gems found on the shelves, and per usual, featuring a range of price points, two figures to four figures.

Enjoy.

13. LAKEVIEW CLUB RECIPES; Cover title: Lakeview Club Cook Book

[California Benefit Cookery Book].

Oakland, California: Published by Lakeview Club 124 Montecito Avenue, (n. d.). 1st edition (presumed). Ca late 1930s? 61, [3] pp. Adverts throughout. 2 paper slips laid-in, with mss receipts thereon [one from McFarland, Genevieve Beckwith - on Ms McFarland's letterhead]. 5 mss recipes on blank pages. 8vo. Grey paper covers, printed with black ink. Worn & stained covers, prior owner signature to top of front cover. Age-toning. Stains within. Item #50769

The Lakeview Club was formed in 1914, merging with another local East Bay club, the Ebells, in the 1990s, with the joined club(s) disbanding in 1911 [San Jose Mercury News, 1/13/2011].

Here offered your typical benefit cookery book, though this, on first blush, seemed a bit different in one regard... the Table of Contents shows the first two pages are devoted to "Cocktails", and while I'd hoped for a new twist on the venerable Manhattan, most of these cocktail recipes are actually of the "shrimp" & "crab" variety.

OCLC shows 6 institutional holdings of this cookery book, though at the time of cataloguing, we find no other copies offered in the trade.

Price: $225.00
